

Eager Narcissists
(Leo Seeger)

I'm so glad you're there
Waiting for the same slow train
You can't tell that you've changed
I thought about you long before we met

Something obscure, darker than you think
In the middle of the painting of a crazy bright drawing puppet

Yeah I'm so glad you came
Halfway between love and shame
I can't tell I've changed
We knew together long before we met

Something weird, stranger than you think
In the middle of a mirror of a crazy bright singing puppet

It's just the two of us
With a rope and a tie
Tied together we lie
Hung together we'll die

Self-inflicted poems of love
For eager narcissists